

Nemera and Nelson Labs Europe strengthen partnership to offer integrated services to customers

This strategic alliance will give a unique advantage to pharmaceutical & bio-tech customers - accelerating the go-to-market of their drug-device combination products by offering analytical chemistry, drug compatibility lab testing and expert advice.

LEUVEN Belgium, March 14, 2023

Nemera, a leading partner for drug delivery device solutions and combination product services and Nelson Labs Europe, a global leader in microbiological and analytical chemistry testing and expert advisory services for the medical device and pharmaceutical industries announced that they are strengthening their already existing partnership for the benefit of their customers and patients.

This non-exclusive partnership provides Nemera extractables & leachables, biocompatibility, microbiology, and chemical testing; providing an integrated services offering to customers for their drug/device combination products and helping to accelerate their time to market.

“We’re very happy that we can offer our lab testing services and associated scientific knowledge to a company like Nemera where we share the same premise of improving the lives of patients worldwide. We are convinced that by combining our forces we will bring many benefits to both the end customer and ultimately the patient” says Eric Meyers, Senior Vice President EMEA, Nelson Labs.

Marc Hämel, CEO of Nemera said, “We’ve been relying on Nelson Labs’ expertise for several years now. This announcement comes at the perfect time for Nemera as we passionately grow our business as an integrated services partner. Our goal is to bring the most benefits possible when it comes to front-end innovation & device development, clinical & commercial device manufacturing, and combination product services to customers and ultimately patients.”

At Nemera and Nelson Labs, we collectively believe building positive relationships in business is one of the most important foundations for success and we look forward to a solid collaboration.
